A Labor of Love: Love's Labour's Lost Opens March 6

Reserve Seats for Love's Labour's Lost

Love's Labour's Lost opens Friday, March 6, and this show is a labor of love for director Katie Pickett and her husband Manny Andrade.

Manny designed the set for this charmingly clever take on Shakespeare's classic comedy, and he's also a member of the set build crew. Katie recently reported that last week she and Manny spent a total of 60 hours between them at the theater--in addition to the 80 hours spent at their full-time jobs!

In that time, Katie's parents have watched the kids, cooked family dinners, and painted the set. "The list goes on and on," Katie reported. "All so that we can spend time doing something we love."

You'll be delighted by the talent and dedication that has gone into creating Love's Labour's Lost. Not into Shakespeare? This is the bard turned on his head. The action takes place at an upscale resort and spa just outside a New England college campus. There's a hot tub and a two-story rustic lodge. The King and his best buds are in town for their five-year college reunion. Who do they meet but the Princess and her BFFs--the princess who, six years ago, a fling with the King. Add in a pop/rock music score and you have a romp of a coming-of-age story filled with comedy and energy. Come see this Shakespeare play through a strictly modern lens.
